TECHNICAL PROPOSAL

Technical Proposal

II. Program Narrative (2 Page Limit)

The Laramie County Juvenile Services Joint Powers Board (LCJSJPB) stated in their Strategic Plan Youth Alternatives (YA) was “a major contributor” to the high level of services within the continuum of care in Laramie County. Youth Alternatives past record of collaboration has produced programs like the Adolescent Day Treatment Center, Special Friends, Alternative Center for Community Involvement and School Success (ACCISS), Community Challenge Course, the Educational Annex (formerly the PEP Center), Juvenile Diversion Officer, Attention Home, and others. We strongly believe this collaborative approach will make this proposal stronger and avoid duplication of services.

Goal Summary

- To identify family needs
- to provide early intervention
- to improve resiliency in children
- to increase access to services for under-served families

A. Population

This proposal will concentrate on families with children 5 to 18 years of age, who have been identified as having at least one or more risk factors in their lives (i.e. poverty, abuse, neglect, domestic violence family conflict, substance abuse, school difficulties, delinquency, etc.), including:

1. families with identified risk factors in their lives who are not involved in the child protection and/or juvenile justice system.
2. families who are currently being served by the child protection and/or juvenile justice system (i.e. children returning home from placement, on probation, in foster care, etc.).
3. under-served families (i.e. focusing on Hispanic and African-American families) who traditionally do not voluntarily access services but may be more vulnerable to out of home placement because of multiple risk factors in their lives.

B. Intent of Program

The intent of this proposal is to two-fold.

1. To strengthen the ability of parents to provide supportive care for their children. The resulting outcome should be the prevention and/or reduction of the number of youth entering or penetrating further into the juvenile justice and/or child protection system.
2. To provide in-home support services to under-served families in Laramie County.

C. Geographic Area to Be Covered

The geographic area will be the City of Cheyenne and the surrounding areas of Laramie County.

D. Lead Agency or Organization

The lead agency in providing this service is Youth Alternatives located at 1328 Talbot Court, Cheyenne, Wyoming

E. Goals of the program:

1. To identify and assess the needs of families who have one or more risk factors in their lives that increases their potential for out of home placement.
2. To provide early intervention services to families designed to strengthen parenting skills, improve family interaction and overall functioning enabling high risk youth to return and/or remain safely at home.
3. To improve resiliency in children by providing them with positive alternatives and enhancing their self-esteem and coping skills.
4. To increase access to services for under-served families thereby, helping them identify risk factor and the assets needed to maintain a healthy family.

F. Summary of Program:

This project is primarily designed to be a front-end program, however, the services will also be effective when children are returning from out of home placement. The program utilizes a variety of best practice approaches to intervene early and provide services that will keep children safely at home. The primary components are:

Key Components:
Assessments:	An individual and family assessment on families referred to the program will be conducted to determine what services are needed. The family and parent mentors will complete an action plan based on the needs assessment.
In-Home Parent Mentors:	Adult mentors will be recruited, screened and trained to provide in-home parent education and support to parents. Utilizing mentors allows the parents to feel less threatened and more open to change. Training and supervision will be provided by a licensed marriage and family therapist.
Mentoring Under-Served Youth	This component will primarily focus on Hispanic and African-American families. Families of color traditionally, do not access services voluntarily. As a result these families problems may be more advanced and they may have greater resistance and distrust because the services are forced. Mentoring programs are able to break through cultural barriers because they are less threatening and generally involve role models reflective of the diverse cultures.

III. Program Description (3 Page Limit):

A. Detailed Description (Addressing the goals in section 1.4): The project is designed to provide early intervention in-home services that will increase the capacity of parents and children, thereby, providing them with tools to maintain children safely at home. The program is also designed to help families access services, assess the needs of the participants, and to help families develop action plans to address those needs..

B. Program Components:

1. Need: Stressful times, create stressed families which may result in more incidence of delinquency, substance abuse, family dysfunction, abuse and neglect, etc.. These risk factors increase the number of out of home placements. This is particularly true of the low-income children and single-parent families who may have less resources available to them. In 2011, 59% of the children referred to the program were from severely low-income families and an additional 17 % were from low to moderate income families. In the past ten years numerous local and statewide needs assessments have confirmed the importance of early intervention services.

2. Key Components:

- a. Assessments: An individual and family assessment on families referred to the program will be conducted to determine what services are needed.
- b. Youth Mentoring: Research has shown that an enduring and supportive mentoring relationship can powerfully influence the quality of a child's life
- c. In-Home Parent Mentors: Adult mentors will be recruited, screened and trained to provide in-home parenting support to parents.

C. Existing data demonstrating the program's success. (See Section G below)

- 1. Sustainability: Youth Alternatives (YA) has been a department of the City of Cheyenne for over 40 years. The program has maintained contractual relationships with Laramie County, LCSD # 1, United Way and the Department of Family Services for over 25 years. This level of continued support speaks to the programs credibility within the community.
- 2. Preferred Agency: In an independent survey conducted in 2012 Youth Alternatives was the preferred agency among youth service providers for referrals for children with behavior and family problems.
- 3. Comparison Study: In 2008 a study of parents of mentored and non-mentored youth in the Youth Alternatives Program indicated that mentored showed significant improvement in the areas of school performance, relationships and self-confidence.
- 4. Recidivism Study: A 2008 recidivism study determined that only 12.8 percent of the youth receiving services through Youth Alternatives at the lower court level were convicted of a crime at the higher court level.
- 5. Improved School Performance: In 2008 the Wyoming Survey and Analysis Center (WYSAC) indicated young people in the after-school academic enrichment program showed repeated school improvements over 5 years. "
- 6. Helping Kids Graduate and Preventing Delinquency: In 2012 a review of 200 randomly selected former YA mentoring clients over the age of 18, determined 80% of the youth had either completed school, transferred to another school or were still in school and 81% of the youth were not convicted of an offense in the District Court after ending their involvement with the mentoring program.

D. Estimated beginning and end date of program:

The contract would be signed on October 1 and the program should be fully operational by December 1, 2012. We do not anticipate ending the program.

The performance measures will be discussed further in section k below.

E. ~~Results the program expects to achieve, how data will be collected, and how~~ quality assurance will be conducted to validate measurements:

1. Data Collection: Statistical and Performance Data will be collected through the following methods; need assessments, participant records, pre and post-match surveys, random teacher surveys and evaluations:
2. Results:
 - a. To assess the needs of children who have one or more risk factors in their lives that increases their potential for out of home placement.
 - b. To provide early intervention services to families designed to enhance parenting skills, improve family interaction and overall functioning enabling high risk youth to return and/or remain safely at home.
 - c. To improve resiliency in children by providing them with positive alternatives and enhancing their self-esteem and coping skills.
 - d. To increase access to services for under-served families thereby, helping them identify risk factor and the assets needed to maintain a healthy family.
3. Quality Assurance: YA will conduct ongoing monitoring of referral records (i.e. assessment and family action plan). A quarterly and yearly evaluation of the data will be conducted to determine the progress of the youth and families in the program.

F. Demographics of the target population:

This proposal will concentrate on families with children 5 to 18 years of age, who have been identified as having at least one or more risk factors in their lives that may contribute to out of home placement. We anticipate that 150 children and families will be served during the first year.

G. National or local endorsements and research:

1. National Endorsements: Over the past 40 years the program has been recognized by a variety of organizations including the U.S. Department of Juvenile Justice, the National Model Cities Directors and Association and the Institute for Youth, Education and Families. The program was also recognized by former President George W. Bush as the “247th National Point of Light.”
2. Local Endorsements: The program has been cite as providing quality programing for youth and families including the Laramie County Juvenile Services Joint Powers Board Strategic Plan, the Mark Martin's detention study, and the 2007 Wyoming County Commissioners Juvenile Justice Project Assessment.

3. Research: (Continued from section C above)

Numerous studies concluded mentoring produced a range of benefits that increased the resiliency of children and families. This included studies by the Search Institute (Assets Study, 1999), Grossman and Tierney (Does Mentoring Work, 1998); Child Trends (Mentoring Research Project, 2002) and the National Mentoring Center (2000).

H. The specific geographic area to be served: Laramie County is the geographical area to be served.

I. Community Partnerships: Youth Alternatives has a history of collaboration and has a strong group of primary partners that it collaborates with to effectively implement prevention programs for children and parents.

J. When the Services Will Be Provided: The majority of the programing will occur evenings and weekends. On-call support staff will be available 24 hours a day.

K. Performance Measures:

1. Assessments: A minimum of 95% of program participants will complete a needs assessment, A prevention plan will be developed from the assessment which will assist in providing participants with appropriate services.

2. In-Home and Group Parenting Support: A minimum of 75% of program participants will indicate improved parenting skills through pre and post-test comparisons.

3. Mentoring: A minimum of 75% of the program participants will report improvement in target areas (i.e. self-concept, relationships, behavior, etc.)

4. Prevention and Recidivism: A minimum of 90% of the participants will not be placed in out-of home placement and a minimum of 75% of participants will not return to placement.

5. Under-served Families: A minimum of 75% of under-served families will report a greater awareness of services and improvement in the targeted areas listed under Mentoring above.

L. Replication: Youth Alternatives will continue to provide materials and consultation to any communities that our wishing to duplicate the program.

M. Evaluation: The evaluation of the program will be based an analysis of the program measures listed in Section K above

N. Tracking: Youth Alternatives will continue tracking program participants for a minimum of one year after they have completed their involvement with the agency. The agency has previously completed tracking studies and will utilize a similar process in the future

COST PROPOSAL

Cost Proposal (2 Pages)

1. Detailed Budget Narrative

a. Personnel (See Attachment # 3, List of Employees)

- In-Home Parent Mentors:

These individuals will be responsible for going into the homes of identified families and providing them with support and guidance. They will primarily work with the parents but each contact will be individually designed to fit the family.

- Counselor/Social Worker:

The individual will be responsible for conducting and/or evaluating all individual and family assessments and providing supervision to In-Home Parent Mentors. The person will also assist with screening and training.

- Coordinator

This person will provide coordination and support of mentors working with youth in the Under-Served Families Program. The person will assist in assessing the youth, recruitment of minority mentors and providing support and supervision.

- Benefits:

The benefits are consistent with those offered by the City of Cheyenne for part-time employees

b. Non-Personnel

- Telephone:

Cell phones will be needed to allow for regular and crisis contact for the staff.

- Postage/Consumable Supplies:

- Printing:

Participant and volunteer recruitment, advertising and printing the mentor handbook.

- Travel/Mileage:

Mileage will be necessary to allow the staff to travel to the youths homes, school and activities.

c. Other Cost:

- Training:

Most of the training materials are already developed the primary cost will be for food and other meeting expenses.

- Activities:

On-going after-school and weekend activities will be available for youth and families in the program.

d. Administration:

Administrative cost is substantially below the allotted 10% of grant total funding.

2. Cost Benefits:

The 2008 independent longitudinal recidivism study reviewed 1,153 participants in Youth Alternatives court service programs. The study indicated 87.2 % of the youth did not re-offend at the District Court level. The only court that can remove youth from their home is the District Court. Average yearly cost for out-of-home placement is estimated to be from $30,000 to $45,000. Therefore, the 1,005.4 youth who did not end up in out-of-home placement because of prevention services at Youth Alternatives saved the State approximately $3,016,200 at a minimum. The 2012 review of previously mentored youth over the age of 18 indicated the 81.2% were successful, further supporting the cost benefits of our early intervention programs.

3. Other Funding Sources:

Youth Alternatives is a department of the City of Cheyenne and is also funded by Laramie County. The program also has contracts with a variety of sources like Laramie County Juvenile Services Joint Powers Board, Laramie County School District # 1, United Way, the Department of Family Services and others. Additional funding is provided through donations and various fund raisers.

History of Organization

Youth Alternatives is a department of the City of Cheyenne and is a government agency. The program was established in 1971 to provide services to youth placed on probation in the City of Cheyenne. The program received national recognition as an exemplary Model Cities Project. Congressman Teno Roncalio spoke about the program before Congress in 1974 and in 1975 the program was selected to appear in a book of exemplary projects.

In 1977, the program received a letter of commendation from President Jimmy Carter and the George Washington Honor Medal from the Freedom Foundation in Philadelphia. In 1980, the distinguished Jefferson Award, from the Jefferson Foundations was awarded to the program.

In 1990, the program was recognized for outstanding volunteer achievement by President George Bush and was designated as the 247th Point of Light and in 1991 the program received a medal commemorating this honor at a ceremony in Florida.

To date, our services have grown to include: family counseling, court services, pre-court diversion, probation, juvenile alcohol & drug intervention program, electronic monitoring, work alternatives program, group services, school services, family crisis intervention, community challenge course, and Special Friends - our mentoring program.

Youth Alternatives provides the City of Cheyenne with a coordinated response to the needs of troubled youth in the community. The program utilizes the community as a tool to modify the inappropriate behavior of troubled youth. The program is designed to intervene in the lives of young people at an impressionable stage in their growth and curtail their continuance or entrance into the juvenile justice system. The program attempts to assist troubled youth to see themselves as better people and the world as less hostile by providing preventative, supportive, and rehabilitative services.

RE: Letter of Support for Youth Alternatives Family Preservation Grant

Dear Committee Members,

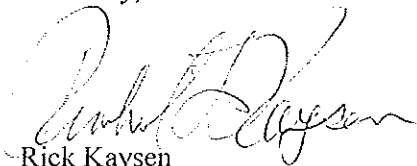

This letter is to express our support for the application for funding submitted by the Office of Youth Alternatives. Youth Alternatives is the primary provider of services to troubled youth and families in Cheyenne and Laramie County. They are a public entity and we strongly believe that the public needs easy access to the type of services offered by their agency.

The incarceration and placement of juveniles out of their homes is one of the great tragedies in our community. I believe that it is extremely important that we implement programs for our troubled youth that protect the community and provide preventive and corrective services to juveniles and their families. It is our belief that appropriate early intervention is the best deterrent to future criminal involvement. Although the community must be protected it is important to treat juveniles differently from adults. Dealing with juveniles requires a holistic perspective that protects the community and corrects the juveniles's behavior.

Laramie County and the City of Cheyenne are very committed to helping our youth. This is demonstrated by the over 40 years of support we have provided to Youth Alternatives. Personally we are very strong advocates for mentoring, counseling, tutoring and other early interventions for children and their families. Like most of us, we have experienced wonderful role models in our lives. Providing adult role models, positive activities, parent support, etc. will greatly impact the lives of children in our community.

We believe this is money well spent and we urge you to strongly consider this application. Youth Alternatives has a proven track record of success and this funding will only further their mission to help children and families

RE: Family Preservation RFP NO. 0269-V
Letter of Support: Youth Alternatives Grant Proposal

Dear Review Committee Members:

It is with great pleasure I write this letter of support for the proposal submitted by the Office of Youth Alternatives to provide family preservation services in Cheyenne. I have worked closely with Youth Alternatives and I feel they are committed to offering quality services to juveniles and their families.

Our department depends heavily on them as a referral source for juveniles and families. Presently, our officers encourage contact and distribute information about Youth Alternatives to juveniles who are issued a citation for a misdemeanor offense. Additionally, before status offense citations, like runaway, are issued the family is directed to contact Youth Alternatives.

Juvenile offenders are extremely time consuming and difficult for law enforcement to work with. It has been our experience that when juveniles and their parents have positive role models in their lives they are less involved in delinquent or criminal activity. Providing mentoring and other prevention services to high risk juveniles and their parents will enhance their ability to resolve personal conflicts and improve family interactions. This will increase the potential for the young people to be successfully diverted from future involvement in the juvenile justice system.

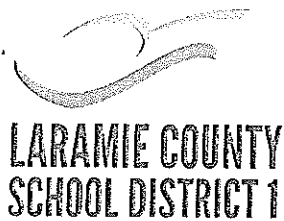

We currently have three police officers who are participating as mentors with the program. Our Diversion Officer was previously recognized as the Mentor of the Year for his one-to-one work with youth. I continue to encourage our officers to get involved in the community and volunteering their time with the prevention programs for Youth Alternatives not only benefits the young people but it helps develop positive relationships between the police and the youth.

I hope you will give this proposal strong consideration.

Sincerely,

RE: Family Preservation RFP NO. 0269-V
Letter of Support: Youth Alternatives Proposal

I am writing in support of the proposal submitted by the Office of Youth Alternatives (YA). We have partnered with YA for over 25 years to provide both in-school and after-school support to the Districts students. The primary purpose of the partnership is to improve our students' academic success by addressing their emotional, behavioral and family needs.

In addition we have partnered on a significant number of other efforts that have benefitted our students, parents and the community. Some of those efforts include; the development of the Adolescent Day Treatment Center for students with emotional and behavioral problems; the Educational Annex, formerly call the PEP Center, for students who are expelled or suspended from, school and a variety of other programs designed to keep our kids in school.

As the Director of Special Services for Laramie County School District 1, I know the value of the services provided by YA. Many of the Districts children live in low-income, single-parent households, which may cause the families to be overwhelmed and stressed. As a result, these children may be at risk for poor school attendance, poor school performance, poor choices and poor behavior, resulting in increased drop-out rates, delinquent behaviors and eventual placement outside the home.

The School District regularly partners with Youth Alternatives/Special Friends to improve the well-being of the children and families in our District. Specifically:

1. Refer students and parents needing mentoring and parenting support.
2. Assist with student assessments and program evaluations.
3. Allow the program to utilize school facilities to run its after-school programs.
4. Assist with transportation after school and during the summer.

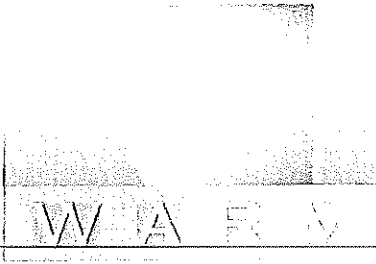

The School District and Youth Alternatives have worked closely together for many years and look forward to our mutual efforts in meeting the needs of families in our community.

Sincerely,

Alice Hunter

ANNUAL AUDIT

Lori Galles indicated as a result of the extensive size of the City of Cheyenne Financial Statement that we not include a copy as a part of this RFP. Per instruction we are advising the committee that a copy of the audit can found on its website, <http://www.cheyennecity.org>

Youth Alternatives is a department of the City of Cheyenne, it is audited as a part of the City audit. This audit takes place at the end of the City's fiscal year, which is June 30. The audit is conducted in accordance with Government Auditing Standards issued by the Comptroller General of the United States. A copy of the Youth Alternatives audit is included in the City's audit and is available in the City Treasurer's office.

Youth Progress Summary

_____ was placed at CHC in August, 2010. We maintained contact with her mother, _____ and CHC staff. We visited _____ and staff at CHC in September 2011. We then maintained contact with her mother in Cheyenne and transported _____ to Laramie for a family session November, 2011. _____ and her mother continue long distance family counseling by phone with CHC. She is excelling in CHC school. The family has requested OYA family counseling and mentoring when _____ returns to Cheyenne.

_____ returned to Cheyenne from Douglas Group Home August, 2011. She enrolled in school and we renewed family session to help family continue with setting boundaries and helping reintegrate back into her family. We maintained counseling support with the parents prior to her return. They were supportive of _____ but separated themselves from being responsible for her behavior and engaging in power struggles. _____ remained resistant and expressed continued abandonment and attachment issues. She refused to remain home and arranged to live with friends in the community. The Court dismissed the case. We remain supportive of the parents who state they are maintaining contact with _____ and she remains out of the home but enrolled in East High School.

We met for weekly in home family sessions following _____ return from WBI. The family was very receptive to counseling and included _____ grandmother where _____ was living. _____ and her mother made significant progress in reestablishing their relationship. However, _____ remained defiant and continued to violate the conditions of her probation. She was placed at CHC in November, 2011. CHC is including _____ mother and grandmother in family counseling during her placement. She is excelling in CHC school. The family has requested OYA family counseling and mentoring when _____ returns to Cheyenne.

_____ moved home with her mother and stepfather after living with her grandparents for the summer. Family counseling was provided by private practitioner. Joe supported _____ as a mentor with twice weekly contact. She helped _____ improve communication with her parents, decrease self harm and maintain sobriety. She continues to successfully attend school at EHS as a Junior.

DFS requested parenting counseling for [redacted] parents during her placement at CHC. CHC also included the parents in family counseling in Laramie. We attended monthly treatment team meetings. [redacted] mother [redacted] attended the 6 week OYA Parenting Series, "Survival Skills for Healthy Families" and weekly parenting sessions. [redacted] father, [redacted] also attended parenting sessions. However, due to significant conflict between the parents, they were unwilling to attend sessions together. Independently the parents made significant progress in parenting skills (setting limits, recognizing and improving their communication style, relationship building and personal accountability). CHC and [redacted] reported improvement in communication with both parents during CHC family sessions. She was excelling in CHC school. We had a counseling session with [redacted] at CHC in the fall of 2011 and gathered input from her that was helpful in the parenting sessions in Cheyenne. [redacted] wants to live with her mother when she returns. Her mother continues to regain stability after being out of [redacted] life for seven years. She is healing from back surgery, seeking work training and attending individual counseling. She has a strong desire to help [redacted] with her baby. We support both [redacted] and [redacted] continuing to work on their lives in order to be successful as a family. [redacted] continued to progress with her treatment and during her Christmas home visit, delivered her baby girl, [redacted]. [redacted] was very resistant to returning to CHC and petitioned the Court to remain with her mother in Cheyenne. Upon the advice of CHC staff, her individual therapist and OYA, the Court transferred [redacted] and her baby to Florence Crittendon in Montana where she is able to continue treatment and receive parenting support. We are available to continue family counseling and mentoring when she returns.

[redacted] returned to Cheyenne from Job Corps where he was unable to meet program requirements. We attended treatment team meetings and offered family counseling and mentoring. [redacted] was eager to heal his relationship with his mother but she declined our offers for counseling stating " [redacted] is now old enough to care for himself". [redacted] maintained weekly contact with Joe as a mentor and expressed interest in working out but seldom made himself available for gym time. He received individual counseling through a private practitioner, but he met regularly with Joe and Sally for support as he attempted to become a young, independent adult. He faithfully continues to attend school through the GOAL Program even when he has to walk across town to attend. [redacted] struggles with depression and attempted suicide in December. After WBI placement in December, he returned to Cheyenne and was released from DFS as an adult. [redacted] continues to visit OYA weekly and states he is feeling more in control of his life, is completing his GED, not taking medications and living with friends.

[redacted] resides in foster care after returning from St. Joseph's. Joe supports [redacted] in a mentoring role. She is helping [redacted] prepare for independent living. She will be 18 in September 2012. She attends school at EHS and will graduate in the Spring of 2012. She helped [redacted] with relationship building (family and friends), trust building, enrollment in the Youth WorkForce Program and is assisting [redacted] to obtain her driver's license. [redacted] receives individual counseling through a private practitioner. She has not reoffended since returning to Cheyenne.
